START MOVEMENT TO MODIFY JONES DRY LAW

CLARIFY THE PROHIBITION PENALTIES SET

"THE WAY ACT IS WORKING OUT MAKES CHANGES ESSENTIAL," SAYS SEN. TYDINGS

LATTER IS A WET FROM MARYLAND WHO OPPOSED JONES PROHIBITION ACT

By PAUL R. MALLON (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, April 1.—The movement to modify and clarify the "five and ten" prohibition penalties of the Jones act will be inaugurated at the special session of congress convening here in two weeks, Senator Millard E. Tydings, democrat of Maryland, today informed the United Press.

Tydings said he had a proposed amendment under consideration and probably would introduce it at the outset of the session in order to bring the matter to the attention of the senate.

The way the act is working out makes some change essential, he said.

Tydings opposed the Jones act when it was under consideration in the last senate session, and later he voted against it. He is considered a wet although he has voted for what he calls "all reasonable efforts for enforcement."

He led the fight at the Houston convention last June for a liberal prohibition plank in his party platform.

"There are some characteristics of the act which are justified," Tydings explained, "but its penalties are excessive and are apt to be abused."

"The wording of the act is ambiguous and will be subjected to various interpretations by federal courts in various parts of the country. Its severity and ambiguity tend to defeat its own purpose."

At the time the law was passed Senator Jones of Washington told the senate the wording of the law was not exactly in legislative language. Changes were made in conference which he and other dry leaders thought only partially corrected this defect.

It was the general understanding of both houses, an understanding based on a statement from Jones, that the heavy maximum penalties should be used only against "habitual commercial violators" of the law and not casual offenders.

Tydings believes this purpose has not been clearly understood and the act itself should be clarified.

There has been some discussion here over the possibility of a congressional investigation to air the present prohibition situation.

The discussion has not yet taken concrete form, largely because of a desire on every hand to await the appointment of President Hoover's crime commission which might go into the matter.

If Mr. Hoover confines the scope of his proposed commission to an investigation of legal aspects of the prohibition, narcotic and crime situations, an effort for a congressional inquiry may yet be instituted.

'THRILL HOLDUP' SLAYER IS SAVED FROM 'HOT CHAIR'

Atlanta, Ga., April 1.—(U.P.)—George Harsh, 19-year-old college boy who faced the electric chair for the "thrill holdup" slaying of Willard Smith, a drug clerk, was saved today by a consent verdict which changed his sentence to life imprisonment after he had been granted a new trial.

Richard Gray Gallohy, alleged accomplice of Harsh, pleaded guilty to the same murder and was sentenced today to life.

BRITISH PLANNING PLANE TO FLY 300 MILES AN HOUR

London, April 1.—(U.P.)—It was understood today that British experiments on Schneider cup airplanes may lead to the development of a plane capable of attaining a speed of 300 miles an hour. The plane would not be armed. It was understood, but would be equipped with cameras and used for photographing and scouting.

MARSHAL JOFFRE IS REPORTED CRITICALLY ILL

Paris, April 1.—(U.P.)—War ministry sources reported today that Marshal Joseph Joffre, hero of the first battle of the Marne where he commanded the allied forces, was critically ill at his country home at Louveciennes, where he had gone to spend Easter.

Mme. Joffre, however, denied reports of the marshal's illness.

CONG. MICHAELSON SURRENDERS TO THE AUTHORITIES

WARRANT CHARGES ILLINOIS MAN WITH VIOLATING PROHIBITION LAWS

SOUGHT SECRET SURRENDER, WISHING TO AVOID PUBLICITY IN MATTER

Chicago, April 1.—(U.P.)—Congressman M. Alfred Michaelson of Illinois, a fugitive from justice since Saturday morning when United States deputy marshals were sent out to bring him in on a warrant charging violation of the prohibition laws, surrendered at the Chicago federal building today at 11 A. M.

Michaelson waived examination before the United States commissioner, and gave cash bonds totalling $2,000 to guarantee his appearance for arraignment in Florida early in May.

After this brief formality the congressman left the building promising reporters that their offices would hear from him direct after he had prepared a "complete statement" later in the day.

After Michaelson had gone it was learned that he had called United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson on the telephone earlier in the day to attempt to arrange for a secret surrender.

"I don't want any publicity on this," the congressman told Johnson.

The district attorney promised to do his best to protect Michaelson but he did not reckon with the "dry" congressman's political enemies in the seventh district. It was his political opponents who betrayed his presence in the building.

Two Congressmen Charged With Breaking Prohibition Laws

Washington, April 1.—(U.P.)—The situation arising from charges that two congressmen violated prohibition laws brought developments here today as well as in Jacksonville, Fla., and New York.

Senator Tydings announced a forthcoming effort to clarify the Jones law through legislation, the move being associated with recent prohibition cases, including those involving members of congress.

Rep. M. A. Michaelson of Chicago was understood to be in Jacksonville ready to face an indictment charging illegal importation of liquor.

The United States district attorney in New York opened his investigation of circumstances surrounding charges and denials that Rep. William M. Morgan, dry congressman from Ohio, brought four bottles of whiskey into New York from Panama.

KINGSFORD-SMITH FORCED DOWN IN AUSTRALIAN WILDS

ATTEMPTED NON-STOP FLIGHT FROM SYDNEY TO WYNDHAM

BRITISH GOVERNMENT PLANE IS DISPATCHED TO SEARCH FOR PARTY

Sydney, N. S. W., April 1.—(U.P.)—(U.P.)—A British government plane was dispatched today from the Port Hedland station to search for Capt. Charles E. Kingsford-Smith and his companions in the airplane Southern Cross, which was forced down in one of the wildest sections of Australia while attempting a non-stop flight from Sydney to Wyndham.

A Northwest Mounted Police launch from Wyndham will search along the Drysdale river for the fliers.

Officials expressed grave fear for the safety of the aviators.

Capt. Kingsford-Smith was on the first leg of a projected flight which would have taken him next to Singapore and eventually to England. He was accompanied by Capt. Charles T. P. Ulm, who was with him on his famous trans-Atlantic flight from San Francisco to Australia; H. A. Litchfield, navigator; and T. H. McWilliams, radio operator.

The rescue plane was ordered to search over the Drysdale river section after an alarming 31-hour silence following a radio message signed by Ulm who said the Southern Cross was preparing to land in "rotten country."

"Have been hopelessly lost in a dense tropical rain ten hours," the message from Ulm, received at 11 P. M. Saturday, said. "Now going to make a forced landing at place we believe 150 knots from Wyndham. Rotten country. Wish us luck."

Nothing was heard from the plane the rest of Saturday night and all through Sunday. At 6 A. M. today a searching plane left Port Hedland. Chief hope for the safety of the four Australian airmen was that they might have landed within striking distance of the Drysdale Mission, 200 miles from civilization.

The country over which they were flying, the Drysdale river region, is largely unexplored and one of the most hazardous districts in Australia. Snakes and poisonous lizards lurk in the tall grasses and kangaroos are abundant.

The natives are wild Australian tribes, semi-civilized, and many of them cannibalistic. Australians consider being lost in that section virtually a sentence of death.

FORMER AFGHAN KING SEEKS TO REGAIN THRONE

London, April 1.—(U.P.)—A Calcutta dispatch to the Daily Express said Amanullah, former king of Afghanistan, was marching on Kabul today with an army of 30,000 men.

Bacha Sakoa, the new king, was preparing the city for defense but his forces were reported diminishing steadily.

AMBASSADOR MYRON T. HERRICK DIES SUDDENLY

WAGED COURAGEOUS ALL-DAY BATTLE AGAINST FAILING HEART

DEATH TRACED TO TIME HE STOOD BAREHEADED AT FOCH FUNERAL

By RALPH HEINZEN (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Paris, April 1.—Ambassador Myron T. Herrick of Ohio died suddenly just before dusk yesterday after a courageous all-day battle against a failing heart.

Death came to the 74-year-old diplomat five days after he had stood bare-headed for two hours during the review of troops at the funeral of Marshal Ferdinand Foch. The best-loved of ambassadors to France insisted upon paying the last tribute to France's soldier hero and the damp mist caused him to catch cold. His condition became suddenly critical early Sunday and he died quietly at the American embassy late in the day.

Led by President Doumergue, official and unofficial France mourned with America today. Herrick was probably the most popular diplomatic representative in Paris.

It was the smiling, white-haired ambassador who stood at the elbow of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh when France shouted her tumultuous cheers to America two years ago.

Paris newspapers carried black borders this morning—an indication of the nation's great esteem for Herrick—and Le Petit Journal expressed the public's regard for the man who refused to leave the threatened capital during the darkest of world war days.

"He was popular without ever trying to be so and was tested during the trying days," the newspaper said.

Arrangements were made today with officials at the Quai d'Orsay to hold the funeral for Herrick probably Thursday, with two addresses. One address will be made by either Premier Raymond Poincare or Foreign Minister Aristide Briand and the other by the dean of the diplomatic corps.

The addresses will be at the embassy probably with later services at a church for members of the American colony.

After a formal procession to the station, the body will be taken aboard one of the newest French cruisers at Havre or Cherbourg for Washington.

Mrs. Parnely Herrick, the ambassador's daughter-in-law, was at the bedside with Herrick's private secretary, Madame Salembier, and his valet, Walter Blanchard, when death occurred.

The ambassador's cold started the day after he stood in the open air at the funeral of Marshal Foch. He walked and chatted with the Prince of Wales over the long route from the Notre Dame Cathedral to the Invalides.

At that time it was noticed that Herrick appeared extremely tired and his friends urged him to rest; but the ambassador said he was too busy arranging details of the new embassy and for the reception of Elihu Root, who was to have been his guest today.

He was visited by his physician, Dr. Henri Rabreau, Saturday evening. His robust condition was then expected to pull him through the attack.

ARMIES OF ESCOBAR AND CALLES CLASH

REBELS ALSO CLAIM 1,500 OF CALLES MEN WERE CAPTURED

AMERICAN AVIATORS IN SERVICE OF REBELS RAKE FEDERAL COLUMNS

Jurarez, Chihuahua, Mexico, April 1.—(U.P.)—Revolutionary headquarters claimed today that 400 federals were killed in a clash yesterday between the army of Gen. J. G. Escobar, rebel generalissimo, and that of Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles.

The rebels also claimed that Escobar's army was marching on Bernalillo, Calles' headquarters, following their victory. They said 1,500 of Calles' men were captured.

American aviators in the service of the rebels, raked the federal columns with machine gun fire during the height of the battle, the rebel bulletin said.

The bulletin gave special credit for winning the battle to the 24th battalion under General Armenta in which General Escobar personally manned a Vickers machine gun.

The rebels reported they had 15 planes in the air during the battle, most of them manned by American fliers.

The rebels also reported they captured a new airplane, mounted with three machine guns. They said an American aviator in the federal service, abandoned the plane on the battle field.

Two federal generals were reported killed in the fighting, one of them being General Eulogio Ortiz.

No estimates of the wounded were given in the rebel bulletins.

Nogales, Sonora, Mexico, April 1.—Rebel leaders here today said the long expected attack on Naco, Sonora, by insurrectionists had started with bombing of the federal stronghold by a rebel airplane.

Two persons were killed, headquarters announced, one a federal soldier and the other a civilian.

Mexico City, April 1.—The federal army's advance against Jimenez, rebel stronghold in Chihuahua, was scheduled to begin today, according to advices reaching here from Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, in charge of the presidential operations in the field.

Norwalk, Conn., April 1.—(U.P.)—Police captured two alleged rum runners and a truck-load of liquor valued at $50,000 near the dock of the Norwalk Country club in East Norwalk today after a gun battle during which a high-powered speed boat, which apparently had just landed the liquor, escaped in the fog.

CORPORAL AT FORT SNELLING SHOT TO DEATH

CORP. SAMUEL BOZDIK LEAPS AT BANDIT AND IS KILLED

BANDIT WAS SWEEPING UP $100 FROM CARD TABLE PAY DAY GAME

Minneapolis, April 1.—(U.P.)—Corporal Samuel Bozdik, 30, was shot and killed Sunday at Fort Snelling when he lunged himself at a former comrade, turned bandit, who attempted to rob a group of soldiers seated about a card table following pay day.

Carl Laying, 23, who last summer was discharged from Bozdik's outfit, Company C, Third Infantry, was captured before he could escape from the barracks and today was said to have confessed the shooting to Sheriff Earle Brown.

Bozdik, apparently unaware that the masked bandit was a former "buddy," leaped out to grasp the fellow as he stooped to pick up the $100 loot on the card table and in the ensuing scuffle received the full charge of a sawed-off shotgun just above the heart. He died within five minutes.

Officers from the fort, aided by Hennepin county officials, have begun an investigation of the corporal's death.

scored a decisive victory in a battle at Escalon.

(By United Press)

Claims of insurrectionists that they had gained decisive victories over federal troops at Escalon featured developments today in the Mexican revolution.

The battle was not mentioned at Mexico City, where the government announced that the federal advance against Jimenez was continuing. No major engagements were listed in the presidential announcement but it was said there that federals had been victorious in skirmishing.

The rebel statements at Juarez claimed 400 federal soldiers, including Gen. Ortiz, had been killed in the Escalon fighting.

The action of Charles E. Mitchell, left, head of the National City Bank and Class A director of the Federal Reserve, has been severely reprimanded by Senator Glass, right, for his action in offering $25,000,000 for brokers' loans in Wall Street. Congress is insisting that Mitchell be removed from the Federal Reserve Board and that speculation be stopped. (International Newsreel)

VARY FROM TORNADOES TO HAIL AND SNOW

STORMS DISRUPTED COMMUNICATIONS THROUGHOUT THE MIDDLEWEST

20 PERSONS INJURED IN TORNADO SWEEPING THROUGH MISSOURI

Chicago, April 1.—(U.P.)—Easter antics of the weather, varying from tornadoes in Missouri to hail and snow in the region of the Great Lakes left a wide area of property damage and disrupted communications in the midwest today.

Meagre reports indicated at least 20 persons were injured in a tornado which swept Poplar Bluff, Marble Hill and Mineral Point, Missouri. Three others were injured in a windstorm which caused considerable property damage in Kansas City.

Several midwest cities were completely isolated by the freakish weather. Waterloo, Iowa, and Milwaukee, Wis., were cut off completely. All direct telephone lines between Chicago and Cincinnati, Louisville and Cincinnati, Omaha and Des Moines, and south and east of Minneapolis-St. Paul were down, the American Telephone & Telegraph Company reported.

Communication systems in the south and southwest also were reported disrupted.

Torrential rain, high winds and hail were general in the midwest yesterday and were followed today by more snow and falling temperatures.

A terrific windstorm swept Indianapolis, Ind., last night, leveling trees, small buildings, and blowing in windows. Power lines were disrupted. No serious injuries were reported.

Iowa and Illinois suffered from heavy sleet storms which disrupted rail and bus schedules and in several cities cut off communications. Seven persons were reported injured in Des Moines, Ia., in automobile accidents attributed to sleet covered pavements.

Subway and passages under viaducts in Chicago were flooded by heavy rains. Snow and near-freezing temperatures followed today.

St. Paul, April 1.—A deep blanket of snow covered the northwest today after an all-day Easter storm which disrupted motor traffic in many regions and damaged power and communication lines.

The storm was general over Minnesota, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota. Southern Minnesota was perhaps the hardest hit for there the snow reached a depth of eight inches and a stiff wind whipped it into drifts which caused serious traffic delays.

More snow and unsettled weather was forecast for today although Tuesday is expected to be fair.

Poplar Bluff, Mo., April 1.—A violent windstorm which developed the violence of a tornado, swept through northern Arkansas and southeastern Missouri yesterday, it became known today.

With wires down throughout the stricken district, news which trickled in from the area consisted mostly of unverified reports. Twenty persons were reported injured.

Andrew Miller, 47, a farmer, and Oscar Montgomery were brought to hospitals here seriously injured. Miller's home several miles west of here was destroyed.

Reports named at least a dozen others believed injured. They were being cared for at the farmhouses of neighbors, it was said.

St. Louis, Mo., April 1.—A 45-mile an hour gale whistled through the streets of St. Louis last night, doing widespread damage to telephone wires and blowing over heavy steel mail boxes.

Patrolman Thomas Flood, 60, was seriously injured when an awning frame torn loose by the wind struck him on the head.

St. Paul, April 1.—(U.P.)—Governor Theodore Christianson today signed 10 legislative bills, one of which authorized county boards to accept, without penalty, taxes delinquent prior to 1926. Another gave Chippewa Indians exclusive rights to gather rice on Lake Superior.

scored a decisive victory in a battle at Escalon.

(By United Press)

Claims of insurrectionists that they had gained decisive victories over federal troops at Escalon featured developments today in the Mexican revolution.

The battle was not mentioned at Mexico City, where the government announced that the federal advance against Jimenez was continuing. No major engagements were listed in the presidential announcement but it was said there that federals had been victorious in skirmishing.

The rebel statements at Juarez claimed 400 federal soldiers, including Gen. Ortiz, had been killed in the Escalon fighting.

Inquiry Into Wall Street Pends

The action of Charles E. Mitchell, left, head of the National City Bank and Class A director of the Federal Reserve, has been severely reprimanded by Senator Glass, right, for his action in offering $25,000,000 for brokers' loans in Wall Street. Congress is insisting that Mitchell be removed from the Federal Reserve Board and that speculation be stopped. (International Newsreel)

VARY FROM TORNADOES TO HAIL AND SNOW

STORMS DISRUPTED COMMUNICATIONS THROUGHOUT THE MIDDLEWEST

20 PERSONS INJURED IN TORNADO SWEEPING THROUGH MISSOURI

Chicago, April 1.—(UP)—Easter antics of the weather, varying from tornadoes in Missouri to hail and snow in the region of the Great Lakes left a wide area of property damage and disrupted communications in the midwest today.

Meagre reports indicated at least 20 persons were injured in a tornado which swept Poplar Bluff, Marble Hill and Mineral Point, Missouri. Three others were injured in a windstorm which caused considerable property damage in Kansas City.

Several midwest cities were completely isolated by the freakish weather. Waterloo, Iowa, and Milwaukee, Wis., were cut off completely. All direct telephone lines between Chicago and Cincinnati, Louisville and Cincinnati, Omaha and Des Moines, and south and east of Minneapolis-St. Paul were down, the American Telephone & Telegraph Company reported.

Communication systems in the south and southwest also were reported disrupted.

Torrential rain, high winds and hail were general in the midwest yesterday and were followed today by more snow and falling temperatures.

A terrific windstorm swept Indianapolis, Ind., last night, leveling trees, small buildings, and blowing in windows. Power lines were disrupted. No serious injuries were reported.

Iowa and Illinois suffered from heavy sleet storms which disrupted rail and bus schedules and in several cities cut off communications. Seven persons were reported injured in Des Moines, Ia., in automobile accidents attributed to sleet covered pavements.

Subway and passages under viaducts in Chicago were flooded by heavy rains. Snow and near-freezing temperatures followed today.

St. Paul, April 1.—A deep blanket of snow covered the northwest today after an all-day Easter storm which disrupted motor traffic in many regions and damaged power and communication lines.

The storm was general over Minnesota, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota. Southern Minnesota was perhaps the hardest hit for there the snow reached a depth of eight inches and a stiff wind whipped it into drifts which caused serious traffic delays.

More snow and unsettled weather was forecast for today although Tuesday is expected to be fair.

Poplar Bluff, Mo., April 1.—A violent windstorm which developed the violence of a tornado, swept through northern Arkansas and southeastern Missouri yesterday, it became known today.

With wires down throughout the stricken district, news which trickled in from the area consisted mostly of unverified reports. Twenty persons were reported injured.

Andrew Miller, 47, a farmer, and Oscar Montgomery were brought to hospitals here seriously injured. Miller's home several miles west of here was destroyed.

Reports named at least a dozen others believed injured. They were being cared for at the farmhouse of neighbors, it was said.

St. Louis, Mo., April 1.—A 45-mile an hour gale whistled through the streets of St. Louis last night, doing widespread damage to telephone wires and blowing over heavy steel mail boxes.

Patrolman Thomas Flood, 60, was seriously injured when an awning frame torn loose by the wind struck him on the head.

St. Paul, April 1.—(UP)—Governor Theodore Christianson today signed 10 legislative bills, one of which authorized county boards to accept, without penalty, taxes delinquent prior to 1926. Another gave Chippewa Indians exclusive rights to gather rice on Rice lake.

WHY NOT RELIEVE THE INDUSTRY?

"THEN why not relieve the industry?" asks the Minneapolis Journal in an editorial on the iron mining taxation situation in Minnesota and continues:

Representatives from the Iron Range communities pleaded eloquently for the life of the mining industry, just before the House, in committee of the whole, turned thumbs down on the twin bills to reduce the occupational and royalty taxes.

They contended that "the power to tax is the power to destroy," that the mining industry is being slowly strangled in a noose of overtaxation, and that the ore business is so important to Minnesota that its rescue from its present plight is a paramount duty of the Legislature.

Very well, why not really rescue the ore business? If the mining industry is important to Minnesota as a whole, it is a hundred times more important to those communities that rely chiefly or solely upon the mining industry for the livelihood of their citizens. So why do not these communities now assent to local tax reduction, which would in no way cripple their own treasuries, but which would materially lighten the industry's intolerable burdens?

There is still before the Legislature a bill to reduce the per capita tax limit. And, but for the opposition of the Range communities, there probably would now be before the Legislature a bill to carry out the State Tax Commission's recommendation for a cut in the ad valorem assessment rate on unmined ore.

Passage of the bill to reduce per capita expenditures would cut the industry's tax burden about one-fifth, it has been estimated, while passage of the two bills killed late Thursday by the House would have meant a cut of only about one-fourteenth.

The Iron Range Legislators plead eloquently for half a loaf of relief for the chief industry of their communities. But they are still unwilling to join in granting the industry a full loaf.

LOW CANAL TOLLS

FRED W. SARGENT, president of the Omaha and North Western railroads, hit the mark when he said that all the states in the Mississippi river region are being discriminated against in transportation matters because of the low tolls charged vessels at the Panama canal.

Mr. Sargent was the speaker of the day at the Shrine club luncheon in St. Paul.

As a remedy, he advocates action of congress to make commercial steamship lines using the canal pay toll charges sufficient to meet operating costs, plus the equivalent of taxes which the public would receive if the canal were privately owned, plus a reasonable rate of interest on so much of the value of the canal as may be properly assigned to the commercial transportation business.

In his speech, as quoted in Twin City newspapers, Mr. Sargent also favored support of the tariff revisions plans drawn for the Northwest Agricultural Foundation by Dr. A. H. Benton of North Dakota Agricultural college, combined with a loosening of railway rate regulations to permit railroads to lower their rates on long haul freight business without breaking down present charges on intermediate points. This matter, we believe, was brought up by the Northern Pacific railway company, but was "turned down" by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

He also believed that realization by the middle west that farm products can be profitably manufactured into industrial products at home, will give a steady market for farm crops and at the same time build up prosperous industrial communities.

He did not express any opposition to barge lines entering the freight business on the Mississippi river.

WITH the announcement of an increase in the total cash prizes from $17,500 to $25,000, the National Radio audition is expected to progress with greater interest than ever among young vocalists of Minnesota and the Midwest this summer and fall, conducted by the Atwater Kent foundation of Philadelphia. Mrs. Theodore Christianson, wife of the governor of Minnesota, was named State Chairman of the enterprise in this state, and made the announcement that plans are already begun for the state's participation in the audition.

ONE Carl Hostetter at Evanston, Ill., a truck driver, violated all traffic rules and drove through a stop sign and when halted said a mouse had crawled up his leg and upset him. With the aid of the traffic cop the mouse was traced to its hiding place and Hostetter felt relieved. That reminds us of driving one time with B. E. Dunham at the wheel. He gave a turn to the steering apparatus which nearly shoved the car into the ditch and the cause was a busy bee that had buzzed up his sleeve.

MINNESOTA farmers will greatly increase their plantings of corn, oat and barley over the acreage harvested last fall, according to intentions expressed to Federal Statistician Paul H. Kirk, of the Minnesota Crop Reporting Service, although intentions for other crops indicate a decrease with the exception of tame hay which will remain the same.

M. E. RYAN was down in Florida during the winter and reports have it he picked up six pounds in weight and was really getting fat. When he weighed himself at Brainerd on his return home his over-weight had shrunk and he was only a pound heavier. He played golf on some of the finest courses in the southland.

NIGHT clubs in Buffalo, fearing the Jones-Stalker law, have placed on their tables for their guests the following announcement: "The contents of this bottle of ginger ale is sold to you as a beverage and positively must not be mixed or used with any kind of intoxicating liquor."

THERE is something human about the Hoover family. Mr. Hoover did not have a new suit for Easter, like some of the newspapermen we know. And Mrs. Hoover did not have a new Easter dress.

BRAINERD had a chilly day on Easter, but it was minus snow, anyway. In Minneapolis four inches of snow fell, heavy enough with the wind to give it blizzard proportions.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

FOR twenty years Irene Robeline struggled cheerfully along as the wife of Guinn Holden, Texas minister. Beneath a cheery smile was a bruised heart. Irene could never capture Holden's love for his first wife, Lilith, that now was given to his beautiful blonde daughter named after her dead mother. Lilith was spoiled by her adoring father. Tina, his daughter by Irene, a dazzling brunette with Ross, Lundy and Patricia, younger children, all came second in his affections. When Lilith goes to New York for a year's music study she meets her first taste of grief. Falling in love with Bill Chester, she breaks her engagement to a Texas boy. Bill called to Paris by his rich grandfather, cables Lilith that he is marrying Sally Burton, to whom he was engaged. Lilith, shaken with anger and bitterness, learns she is to have a child. Irene and Dr. Lundy secretly care for her in New York to prevent Holden from knowing the truth. After the infant's premature birth and death they return home with Lilith. Happiness prevails as Tina is preparing wedding plans for her marriage to a handsome local lad. They will tour the world on their honeymoon. Irene is torn by happiness for Tina and fear for Lilith's shame becoming known. Lilith slowly recovers—more beautiful than ever and her father's idol. He forbids her return to New York.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER LXVII!
LILITH would be a good name for an opera singer," mused Dan.

"She was named for her mother," the father said hastily. The girl smiled and looked at Irene. "Adams' first wife was named Lilith. She was a sorceress, wasn't she, mother?"

"I believe that is the tradition," Irene answered in an even tone. "The Talmud says that," Guinn added.

On next Sunday morning Lilith sang a solo in the church. Her white crepe de Chine dress, whose soft lines made her look slenderer than ever, and a close-fitting little white hat with a blue flower on it showed her gold hair underneath the tiny brim and brought out the blue of her eyes. The pink flush of her cheeks, made her look lovely, with a touch of the unearthly about her. Her eyes had a far-off gaze and her cheek a more delicate flush as she began to sing.

Irene was sitting in the pew with Pat on one side of her and Tina on the other, with Dan beside Tina, next to the aisle. She had to look past these two to see the choir loft where Lilith was standing. "Looks like a bobbed-haired angel," doesn't she?" whispered Dan.

"Yes, she is—utterly beautiful," Dan answered.

Irene gazed at the young singer, entranced with wonder and awe. This angelic creature, like a white and gold seraph—was she the girl she had seen rigid with shame and terror so short a time ago? This voice, floating softly but clearly through the hushed church, with ineffable sweetness of prayer—was this the voice that had mocked her and shocked her with its hardness and hate? This was Lilith standing there in the choir loft. Surely the two months in New York had been a hellish dream.

She relaxed with a sigh, to listen. . . . Then she glanced at Dan, and saw him gazing at Lilith with eyes that never wavered. Wonder and awe were on his face, too, and a dreamlike ecstasy, as of one who sees a vision.

She shivered. Lucky for them all that Dan was to marry Tina in three weeks now, and go away to Paris. Such beauty was dangerous for any young man to be exposed to even if he was engaged. Dan was a good catch—and rich. Who knows what might have happened if Lilith had been at home, before he fell in love with Tina? She might have bewitched him, instead of going to New York. One could never tell what Lilith might do. There mustn't be any clash between her and her father.

When the rush of Tina's wedding was over, she'd do all she could to reconstruct Lilith's life.

"Guinn, don't be silly!" She gave him a little shake with hands wet from the sprinkler. "You and I just walked off and got married."

"Yes, and the Ladies' Aid have made a grievance about it ever since. We ought to have one proper wedding in the family."

"Oh, Father, do listen to reason!" Tina wheedled him. "I wish you could see it our way, sir."

"Dan's quiet. 'After all, it's our wedding, not the Ladies' Aid's.' There was a white earnestness in his face, a gleam of appeal in his eyes. 'I wish you'd consent. It means a lot to me.'"

"And to me!" Tina sat down on the rustic bench beside her father, put her arms about his neck and laid her cheek against his. "Do say yes."

"Nope."

Irene straightened up indignantly. "Now, you're being unreasonable and stupid, Guinn Holden. This is Tina's wedding and Dan's, and they've got a right to have it as they like. You're taking a cruel advantage just because you're pastor as well as father. Otherwise they could escape to the Justice of the Peace—and serve you right!"

Tina sighed. "We don't want anybody but father to marry us. But it isn't fair of him not to—now."

"Only three weeks," came the unbudgable masculine edict.

Tina and Dan walked away through the garden, her rose-colored frock like a floating flower.

"Guinn, you had no right to treat these children like that. Call them back and marry them, here, now—in the garden, this minute."

He threw away his cigar butt. "Woman, you are a sentimentalist and I refuse to be dominated by you. My mind is adjusted to three weeks from today."

She turned the water on full force and sprayed a flower bed so violently that the soil boiled and splattered her feet. Men were imbecile and so foolish you couldn't budge them. Man created in the image of God? How ridiculous an idea!

Lilith wandered out into the garden and sat down on the bench beside her father, looking like a ghost flower in her white dress.

"I sang for you yesterday in church. Now you're going to let me do what I wish, aren't you, father? I want to go to New York."

"I can't let you leave me, darling. You've been sick."

"I'm all right, really I am. And I've got to go. I must find myself."

"What's in New York that you've got to find?"

"It's a start—toward what I want, father."

He shook his head. "I can't consent for you to go."

"I must go! Mother, tell him I must!" She turned with a sort of wildness on her face.

Irene cut off the stream of water, dried her hands, to gain a moment's time to think. Oh, what was best for this poor, harried child?

"Guinn, she's well enough to go. I'm sure she'll be more careful after this. And if she has her heart set on going we must let her."

"So far away? I can't, Irene. She means too much to me."

"I understand. But you can't keep your children in your coat pocket all their lives. They're not just little pieces of you—they're themselves. If you clutch them you strangle them. I do think parents can be monsters of selfishness—choke a child to death and say, 'I can't let you go because I love you!'"

"Mad woman!" he sniffed. "Freud, Modern fiction."

"Cold truth," said Lilith. "Father, will you believe me when I tell you I've got to go?"

"No, honey, I can't."

She rose, pale and erect in the waning light. The gold of her hair was like a fading nimbus, her white dress like a ghost flower in the garden. Her face had again the waxy pallor, the hard defiance it had shown in New York.

"As you will, Father," she said, with ironic submission.

When the wraith of her dress had vanished, Irene turned to him. "Guinn, you've acted perfectly terribly tonight!"

He fidgeted uncomfortably and refused to face her.

"You're like an unconscious villain in a play. You mean well, but you don't understand daughters. And you're heading for trouble."

day. Mrs. Herrick remained constantly at the bedside until the ambassador died at 5 P. M.

Many incidents which built up the country's great love for Herrick were recalled by friends.

His great skill in managing the reception for Lindbergh here after the aviator's flight from New York to Paris—including the fact that he waved a French flag beside the American flag at Le Bourget field upon Lindbergh's arrival—endured him to the people of France as well as the officials.

It was during the war, however, that France placed Herrick securely in his high position here. Two wartime gestures placed him high in the hearts of the French people.

First, he remained in Paris when the government fled to Bordeaux in September, 1914, when the German armies were pounding the gates of the capital.

Second, Herrick deposited several hundred thousand dollars on the Paris Bourse during the time of greatest depression of the franc—August, 1926—and his gesture of confidence in France had an immediate effect in checking the fall of the currency.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

WHY NOT RELIEVE THE INDUSTRY?

"THEN why not relieve the industry?" asks the Minneapolis Journal in an editorial on the iron mining taxation situation in Minnesota and continues:

Representatives from the Iron Range communities pleaded eloquently for the life of the mining industry, just before the House, in committee of the whole, turned thumbs down on the twin bills to reduce the occupational and royalty taxes.

They contended that "the power to tax is the power to destroy," that the mining industry is being slowly strangled in a noose of overtaxation, and that the ore business is so important to Minnesota that its rescue from its present plight is a paramount duty of the Legislature.

Very well, why not really rescue the ore business? If the mining industry is important to Minnesota as a whole, it is a hundred times more important to those communities that rely chiefly or solely upon the mining industry for the livelihood of their citizens. So why do not these communities now assent to local tax reduction, which would in no way cripple their own treasuries, but which would materially lighten the industry's intolerable burdens?

There is still before the Legislature a bill to reduce the per capita tax limit. And, but for the opposition of the Range communities, there probably would now be before the Legislature a bill to carry out the State Tax Commission's recommendation for a cut in the ad valorem assessment rate on unmined ore.

Passage of the bill to reduce per capita expenditures would cut the industry's tax burden about one-fifth, it has been estimated, while passage of the two bills killed late Thursday by the House would have meant a cut of only about one-fourteenth.

The Iron Range Legislators plead eloquently for half a loaf of relief for the chief industry of their communities. But they are still unwilling to join in granting the industry a full loaf.

LOW CANAL TOLLS

FRED W. SARGENT, president of the Omaha and North Western railroads, hit the mark when he said that all the states in the Mississippi river region are being discriminated against in transportation matters because of the low tolls charged vessels at the Panama canal.

Mr. Sargent was the speaker of the day at the Shrine club luncheon in St. Paul.

As a remedy, he advocates action of congress to make commercial steamship lines using the canal pay toll charges sufficient to meet operating costs, plus the equivalent of taxes which the public would receive if the canal were privately owned, plus a reasonable rate of interest on so much of the value of the canal as may be properly assigned to the commercial transportation business.

In his speech, as quoted in Twin City newspapers, Mr. Sargent also favored support of the tariff revisions plans drawn for the Northwest Agricultural Foundation by Dr. A. H. Benton of North Dakota Agricultural college, combined with a loosening of railway rate regulations to permit railroads to lower their rates on long haul freight business without breaking down present charges on intermediate points. This matter, we believe, was brought up by the Northern Pacific railway company, but was "turned down" by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

He also believed that realization by the middle west that farm products can be profitably manufactured into industrial products at home, will give a steady market for farm crops and at the same time build up prosperous industrial communities.

He did not express any opposition to barge lines entering the freight business on the Mississippi river.

WITH the announcement of an increase in the total cash prizes from $17,500 to $25,000, the National Radio audition is expected to progress with greater interest than ever among young vocalists of Minnesota and the Midwest this summer and fall, conducted by the Atwater Kent foundation of Philadelphia. Mrs. Theodore Christianson, wife of the governor of Minnesota, was named State Chairman of the enterprise in this state, and made the announcement that plans are already begun for the state's participation in the audition.

ONE Carl Hostetter at Evanston, Ill., a truck driver, violated all traffic rules and drove through a stop sign and when halted said a mouse had crawled up his leg and upset him. With the aid of the traffic cop the mouse was traced to its hiding place and Hostetter felt relieved. That reminds us of driving one time with B. E. Dunham at the wheel. He gave a turn to the steering apparatus which nearly shoved the car into the ditch and the cause was a busy bee that had buzzed up his sleeve.

MINNESOTA farmers will greatly increase their plantings of corn, oat and barley over the acreage harvested last fall, according to intentions expressed to Federal Statistician Paul H. Kirk, of the Minnesota Crop Reporting Service, although intentions for other crops indicate a decrease with the exception of tame hay which will remain the same.

M. E. RYAN was down in Florida during the winter and reports have it he picked up six pounds in weight and was really getting fat. When he weighed himself at Brainerd on his return home his over-weight had shrunk and he was only a pound heavier. He played golf on some of the finest courses in the southland.

NIGHT clubs in Buffalo, fearing the Jones-Stalker law, have placed on their tables for their guests the following announcement: "The contents of this bottle of ginger ale is sold to you as a beverage and positively must not be mixed or used with any kind of intoxicating liquor."

THERE is something human about the Hoover family. Mr. Hoover did not have a new suit for Easter, like some of the newspapermen we know. And Mrs. Hoover did not have a new Easter dress.

BRAINERD had a chilly day on Easter, but it was minus snow, anyway. In Minneapolis four inches of snow fell, heavy enough with the wind to give it blizzard proportions.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

FOR twenty years Irene Robeline struggled cheerfully along as the wife of Guinn Holden, Texas minister. Beneath a cheery smile was a bruised heart. Irene could never capture Holden's love for his first wife, Lilith, that now was given to his beautiful blonde daughter named after her dead mother. Lilith was spoiled by her adoring father. Tina, his daughter by Irene, a dazzling brunette with Ross, Lundy and Patricia, younger children, all came second in his affections. When Lilith goes to New York for a year's music study she meets her first taste of grief. Falling in love with Bill Chester, she breaks her engagement to a Texas boy. Bill called to Paris by his rich grandfather, cables Lilith that he is marrying Sally Burton, to whom he was engaged. Lilith, shaken with anger and bitterness, learns she is to have a child. Irene and Dr. Lundy secretly care for her in New York to prevent Holden from knowing the truth. After the infant's premature birth and death they return home with Lilith. Happiness prevails as Tina is preparing wedding plans for her marriage to a handsome local lad. They will tour the world on their honeymoon. Irene is torn by happiness for Tina and fear for Lilith's shame becoming known. Lilith slowly recovers—more beautiful than ever and her father's idol. He forbids her return to New York.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER LXVIII!
LILITH would be a good name for an opera singer," mused Dan.

"She was named for her mother," the father said hastily.

The girl smiled and looked at Irene. "Adams first wife was named Lilith. She was a sorceress, wasn't she, mother?"

"I believe that is the tradition," Irene answered in an even tone.

"The Talmud says that," Guinn added.

On next Sunday morning Lilith sang a solo in the church. Her white crepe de Chine dress, whose soft lines made her look slenderer than ever, and a close-fitting little white hat with a blue flower on it showed her gold hair underneath the tiny brim and brought out the blue of her eyes, the pink flush of her cheeks, made her look lovely.

With a touch of the uncertainty about her. Her eyes had a far-off gaze and her cheek a more delicate flush as she began to sing.

Irene was sitting in the pew with Pat on one side of her and Tina on the other, with Dan beside Tina, next to the aisle. She had to look past these two to see the choir loft where Lilith was standing.

"Looks like a bobbed-haired angel," doesn't she?" whispered Dan.

"Yes, she is—utterly beautiful," Dan answered.

Irene gazed at the young singer, entranced with wonder and awe. This creature, like a white and gold seraph—was she the girl she had seen rigid with shame and terror so short a time ago? This voice, floating softly but clearly through the hushed church, with ineffable sweetness of prayer—was this the voice that had mocked her and shocked her with its hardness and hate? This was Lilith standing there in the choir loft. Surely the two months in New York had been a hellish dream.

She relaxed with a sigh, to listen. . . . Then she glanced at Dan, and saw him gazing at Lilith with eyes that never wavered. Wonder and awe were on his face, too, and a dreamlike ecstasy, as of one who sees a vision.

She shivered. Lucky for them all that Dan was to marry Tina in three weeks now, and go away to Paris. Such heavy burdens for a young man to be exposed to even if he was engaged. Dan was a good catch—and rich. Who knows what might have happened if Lilith had been at home, before he fell in love with Tina? She might have bewitched him, instead of going to New York. One could never tell what Lilith might do. There mustn't be any clash between her and her father.

When the run of Tina's wedding was over, she'd do all she could to reconstruct Lilith's life.

"No, I don't want to lose my girl three weeks ahead of time. And the church folks all want to see her married."

"Guinn, don't be silly!" She gave him a little shake with hands wet from the sprinkler. "You and I just walked off and got married."

"Yes, and the Ladies' Aid have made a grievance about it ever since. We ought to have one proper wedding in the family."

"Oh, Father, do listen to reason!" Tina wheedled him. "I wish you would see it our way, sir, said Dan quietly. 'After all it's our wedding, not the Ladies' Aid's.' There was a white earnestness in his face, a gleam of appeal in his eyes. 'I wish you'd consent. It means a lot to me.'"

"And to me!" Tina sat down on the rustic bench beside her father, put her arms about his neck and laid her cheek against his. "Do say yes."

"Nope." Irene straightened up indignantly. "Now, you're being unreasonable and stupid. Guinn Holden. This is Tina's wedding and Dan's, and they've got a right to have it as they like. You're taking a cruel advantage just because you're pastor as well as father. Otherwise they could escape to the Justice of the Peace—and serve you right!"

Tina sighed. "We don't want anybody but father to marry us. But it isn't fair of him not to—now."

"Only three weeks," came the unbudging masculine edict. Tina and Dan walked away through the garden, her rose-colored frock like a floating flower.

"Guinn, you had no right to treat these children like that. Call them back and marry them, here, now—in the garden, this minute."

He threw away his cigar butt. "Woman, you are a sentimentalist and I refuse to be dominated by you. My mind is adjusted to three weeks from today."

She turned the water on full force and sprayed a flower bed so violently that the soil boiled and splattered her feet. Men were imbecile and so mulish you couldn't budge them. Man created in the image of God? How ridiculous an idea!

Lilith wandered out into the garden and sat down on the bench beside her father, looking like a ghost flower in her white dress.

"I sang for you yesterday in church. Now you're going to let me do what I wish, aren't you, father? I want to go to New York."

"I can't let you leave me, darling. You've been sick."

"I'm all right, really I am. And I've got to go. I must find myself."

"You're in New York that you've got to find?"

"It's a start—toward what I want, father."

He shook his head. "I can't consent for you to go."

"I must go! Mother, tell him I must!" She turned with a sort of wildness on her face.

Irene cut off the stream of water, dried her hands, to gain a moment's time to think. Oh, what was best for this poor, harried child?

"Guinn, she's well enough to go. I'm sure she'll be more careful after this. And if she has her heart set on going we must let her."

"So far away? I can't, Irene. She means too much to me."

"I understand. But you can't keep your children in your coat pocket all their lives. They're not just little pieces of you—they're themselves. If you clutch them you strangle them. I do think parents can be monsters of selfishness—choke a child to death and say, 'I can't let you go because I love you!'"

"Melodrama," he sniffed. "Freud, Modern fiction."

"Cold truth," said Lilith. "Father, will you believe me when I tell you I've got to go?"

"No, honey, I can't." She rose, pale and erect in the waning light. The gold of her hair was like a fading nimbus, her white dress like a ghost flower in the garden. Her face had again the waxy pallor, the hard defiance it had shown in New York.

"As you will, Father," she said, with ironic submission.

When the wraith of her dress had vanished, Irene turned to him. "Guinn, you've acted perfectly terribly tonight!"

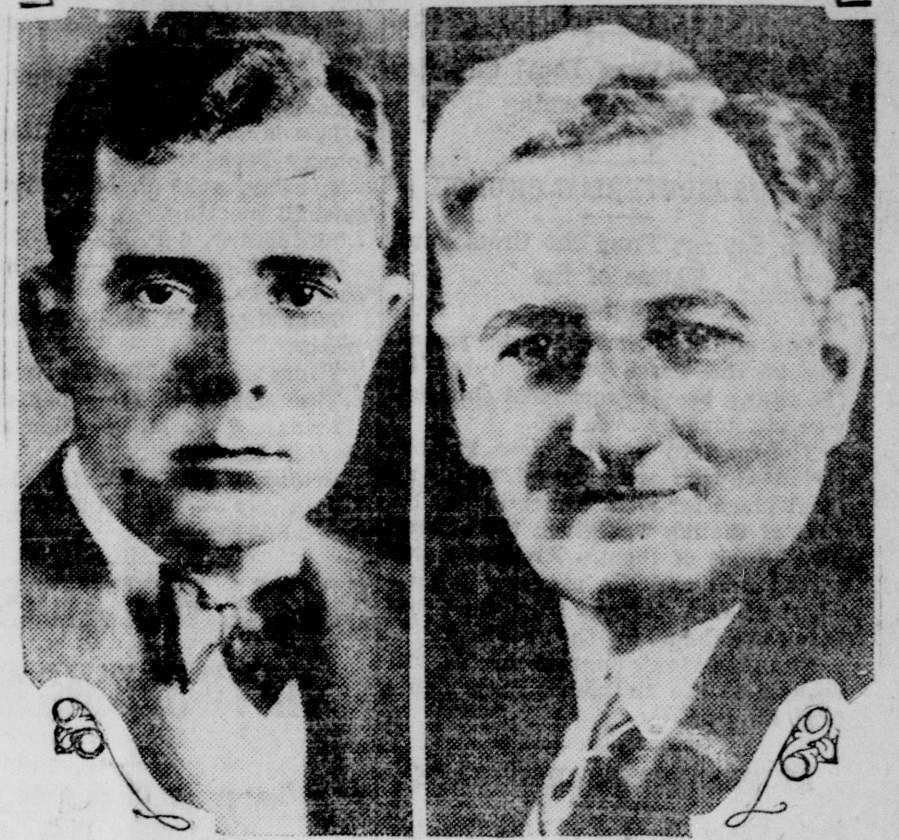

He fidgeted uncomfortably and refused to face her.

"You're like an unconscious villain in a play. You mean well, but you don't understand dangers. And you're heading for trouble."

AVERAGE VOTE TO BE CAST TOMORROW

So Predict Those Who Claim to be in Know: 2,500 Expected
Out

QUIET ELECTION SEEN

Candidates for 12 Offices Are Unopposed; Polling Places Listed

What are the prospects for a good vote at tomorrow's election?

What are the chances of Mr. So and So to nose out Mr. Incumbent or of the new candidates who are entering city politics for the first time?

Conjecture formed the basis of conversations of those interested enough today to talk about the election which is only a few hours away.

An average city election vote will be polled tomorrow it was predicted by those who claim to be in the know. The outside figure is set at 3,000 votes but the more popular prediction is 2,500. Others say the vote will shrink to the 2,000 mark.

However 4,500 ballots have been printed to protect a heavy vote.

The polls will open at the early hour of 6 a. m. and continue to remain open until 9 p. m. Weather forecasts indicated unsettled weather with local squalls. Such a condition will mean that the polls will not be rushed.

The polling places as announced by Mrs. E. T. Fleener, city clerk, follow:

First ward—City hall building.
First precinct, second ward—103
Main street.

Second precinct, second ward—
Public Library.

First precinct, third ward—N. E.
BRAINERD HOSE HOUSE.

Second precinct, third ward—
Lowell school.

Fourth ward—S. E. Brainerd HOSE
HOUSE.

Fifth ward—Northern States Power
Co., Broadway.

The following table gives the names of all candidates for all offices in the city:

Mayer—F. E. Little.
City Attorney—D. H. Fullerton.
Municipal Judge—J. H. Warner.
Lamonte P. Koop.

Treasurer—Richard Ilse, George
A. Tracy.

City Council

First ward—Wm. J. Lyons.
Second ward—Frank B. Johnson.
Third ward—V. F. Anderson, Gust Wahlstrom.

Fourth ward—V. E. Gustafson.
Fifth ward—Harry Cramer, J. M.
Mraz.

Board of Education

First ward—Fred Drexler.
Second ward—George H. Ribbel.
Third ward—R. W. Crust.
Fourth ward—Hugo L. Sundberg,
4 year term.

Fourth ward—Harold E. Whitlock,
2 year term.

Fifth ward—Elmer O. Olson.

To vote one must reside in the election district for a period of 30 days prior to the day of election.

Unless fireworks unforeseen develop the city election this year will be a quiet one.

Candidates for 12 offices are unopposed. Not one school board candidate is opposed.

The race of the day apparently will center around the municipal judgeship and the city treasurer.

J. H. Warner incumbent and La-monte P. Koop will be nip and tuck in the race tomorrow, many predict.
Others say, however that the Warner-Koop race will not be as interesting as the Ilse-Tracy fight for city treasurer.

V. F. Anderson, alderman from the Third ward should defeat Gust Wahl-strom and J. M. Mraz should carry the Fifth ward, many residents of the two wards stated today.

In the school board vote two members are voted in from the fourth ward, Hugo L. Sundberg for the four year term and Harold E. Whitlock

CITIZENS TRAINING CAMP

Committee to Report on Same at Meeting of American Legion
Tonight

With other matters to be reported on at the meeting of the American Legion this evening will be that of the Citizens Military Training Camp.
A committee of four members is actively on this committee to boost the

A. Peterson, chairman, Dr. G. I. Ba-

of the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Peterson stated that this

Congress makes a special appropriation year for the C. M. T. C. The purpose is to build up material for officers of the army, both the active and re-

AVERAGE VOTE TO BE CAST TOMORROW

So Predict Those Who Claim to be in Know; 2,500 Expected Out

QUIET ELECTION SEEN

Candidates for 12 Offices Are Unopposed; Polling Places Listed

What are the prospects for a good vote at tomorrow's election?

What are the chances of Mr. So and So to nose out Mr. Incumbent or of the new candidates who are entering city politics for the first time?

Conjecture formed the basis of conversations of those interested enough today to talk about the election which is only a few hours away.

An average city election vote will be polled tomorrow it was predicted by those who claim to be in the know. The outside figure is set at 2,500 votes but the more popular prediction is 2,500. Others say the vote will shrink to the 2,000 mark. However 4,500 ballots have been printed to protect a heavy vote.

The polls will open at the early hour of 6 a. m. and continue to remain open until 9 p. m. Weather forecasts indicated unsettled weather with local squalls. Such a condition will mean that the polls will not be rushed.

The polling places as announced by Mrs. E. T. Fleener, city clerk, follow:

First ward—City hall building.
First precinct, second ward—103 Main street.

Second precinct, second ward—Public Library.

First precinct, third ward—N. E. Brainerd house.

Second precinct, third ward—Lowell school.

Fourth ward—S. E. Brainerd house.

Fifth ward—Northern States Power Co., Broadway.

The following table gives the names of all candidates for all offices in the city:

Mayor—F. E. Little.
City Attorney—D. H. Fullerton.
Municipal Judge—J. H. Warner.

Treasurer—Richard Ilse, George A. Tracy.

City Council
First ward—Wm. J. Lyons.
Second ward—Frank B. Johnson.

Third ward—V. F. Anderson, Gust Wahlstrom.

Fourth ward—V. E. Quastrom.

Fifth ward—Harry Creger, J. M. Mraz.

Board of Education
First ward—Fred Drexler.

Second ward—George H. Ribbel.

Third ward—R. W. Crust.

Fourth ward—Hugo L. Sundberg.

4 year term.

Fourth ward—Harold E. Whitlock.

2 year term.

Fifth ward—Elmer O. Olson.

To vote one must reside in the election district for a period of 30 days prior to the day of election.

Unless fireworks unforeseen develop the city election this year will be a quiet one.

Candidates for 12 offices are unopposed. Not one school board candidate is opposed.

The race of the day apparently will center around the municipal judgeship and the city treasurer.

J. H. Warner incumbent and Lamonte P. Koop will be nip and tuck in the race tomorrow, many predict. Others say, however, that the Warner-Koop race will not be as interesting as the Ilse-Tracy fight for city treasurer.

V. F. Anderson, alderman from the Third ward should defeat Gust Wahlstrom and J. M. Mraz should carry the Fifth ward, many residents of the two wards stated today.

In the school board vote two members are voted in from the fourth ward, Hugo L. Sundberg for the four year term and Harold E. Whitlock for the two year term. The two are taking their first fling at city politics.

PLAY APRIL 3 IN NATIONAL CAGE TOURNEY

VALLEY CITY, N. D., IS TO MEET
LAKELAND, FLA., ON TUESDAY

YANKTON, S. D., AND BRISTOL,
CONN., MEET AT 1 P. M.
WEDNESDAY

St. Paul, April 1.—(UP)—The Moorhead high school basketball team, Minnesota entry in the University of Chicago's national interscholastic tournament, draws College Grove, Tenn., as opposition in the first round, according to United Press dispatches received here today.

The Moorhead cagers play their first game at 9 A. M. Wednesday. The Valley City team, North Dakota champions, meet Lakeland, Fla., at 7 P. M. Tuesday in their first game. Yankton, S. D., and Bristol, Conn., meet at 1 P. M. Wednesday.

Chicago, April 1.—Forty of the country's best high school basketball teams arrived today to compete in the University of Chicago's annual national interscholastic tournament, which begins tomorrow.

The entries are state champions and runner-ups from as far west as Montana and as far east as Massachusetts.

Sixteen of the teams were from towns of less than 5,000 population and six from villages of less than 1,000 people.

Joes, Colo.; Wheeler, Miss.; College Grove, Tenn.; and Heath, Ky., were the smallest communities represented. Joes, for instance did not have enough students for a football or basketball team, but has a great basketball quintet.

The entries represent 25,001 teams, which competed in the various state tournaments. An indication of the opposition the team faced was the Johnston City, Illinois state champion quintet, representative of 479 squads entered in the Illinois tournament.

Twelve games will be played tomorrow and another dozen on Wednesday. These skirmishes will cut down the contenders to sixteen. The twenty teams which lose the first round games will enter a consolation tournament while the surviving 16 continue for the national championship.

Ashland, Ky., is the defending champion but the team was crippled by graduation and hardly was expected to repeat.

WHOLESALE ARRESTS OF ALLEGED PLOTTERS MADE IN PORTUGAL

Madrid, April 1.—(UP)—Wholesale arrests have been made in Lisbon of persons charged with plotting against the Portuguese government, according to reports reaching here from the Portuguese border.

A majority of those arrested, according to the reports, are officers, sub-officers and soldiers. One of the officers is the son of former Premier Alvaro Castro, it was said.

INVENTION TO ELIMINATE ALL GEAR-GRINDING

London, April 1.—(UP)—An invention to eliminate gear-grinding from the woes of motorists is being perfected here and very soon, it is claimed, nervous and inexperienced drivers will be able to shift gears without the accompanying complaints from the gear-box.

The new invention, known as the "Salerni coupling," is a small device and inexpensive, according to its inventor. Gear changing is difficult, it was explained, and can be done silently only when rotating at the same speed.

With the Salerni coupling, the pressure of the clutch disconnects the whole gear box from the propeller shaft. Engaging any pair of gears is then simple and the coupling, interposed between the gear box and the propeller shaft, automatically connects the latter with the engine as soon as both are rotating at the same speed.

New York, April 1.—(UP)—The eighteenth amendment is an "unforgivable offense," the Rev. Dr. John A. Ryan, professor of moral theology in the Catholic university, Washington, writes in an article that will be published Wednesday in "The Commonwealth."

He compares the prohibition enforcement question with the "blue law" legislation which is still on some statute books but which he claims has been nullified by the refusal of the masses to observe these laws.

Father Ryan makes a plea for the repeal of the amendment and for the question to be put to a majority vote in congress.

PLAY APRIL 3 IN NATIONAL CAGE TOURNEY

VALLEY CITY, N. D., IS TO MEET
LAKELAND, FLA., ON TUESDAY

YANKTON, S. D., AND BRISTOL,
CONN., MEET AT 1 P. M.
WEDNESDAY

St. Paul, April 1.—(UP)—The Moorhead high school basketball team, Minnesota entry in the University of Chicago's national interscholastic tournament, draws College Grove, Tenn., as opposition in the first round, according to United Press dispatches received here today.

The Moorhead cagers play their first game at 9 A. M. Wednesday. The Valley City team, North Dakota champions, meet Lakeland, Fla., at 7 P. M. Tuesday in their first game. Yankton, S. D., and Bristol, Conn., meet at 1 P. M. Wednesday.

Chicago, April 1.—Forty of the country's best high school basketball teams arrived today to compete in the University of Chicago's annual national interscholastic tournament, which begins tomorrow.

The entries are state champions and runner-ups from as far west as Montana and as far east as Massachusetts.

Sixteen of the teams were from towns of less than 5,000 population and six from villages of less than 1,000 people.

Jones, Colo.; Wheeler, Miss.; College Grove, Tenn.; and Heath, Ky., were the smallest communities represented. Jones, for instance did not have enough students for a football or baseball team, but has a great basketball quintet.

The entries represent 25,001 teams, which competed in the various state tournaments. An indication of the opposition the team faced was the Johnston City, Illinois state champion quintet, representative of 479 squads entered in the Illinois tournament.

Twelve games will be played tomorrow and another dozen on Wednesday. These skirmishes will cut down the contenders to sixteen. The twenty teams which lose the first round games will enter a consolation tournament while the surviving 16 continue for the national championship.

Ashland, Ky., is the defending champion but the team was crippled by graduation and hardly was expected to repeat.

New York, April 1.—(UP)—The eighteenth amendment is an "unforgivable offense," the Rev. Dr. John A. Ryan, professor of moral theology in the Catholic university, Washington, writes in an article that will be published Wednesday in "The Commonwealth."

He compares the prohibition enforcement question with the "blue law" legislation which is still on some statute books but which he claims has been nullified by the refusal of the masses to observe these laws. Father Ryan makes a plea for the repeal of the amendment and for the question to be put to a majority vote in congress.
